DEMOCRATIC POLICY.

Views of Some of the Party Leaders on the Situation.

The Question of Protection Likely to be Important.

Pulitzer Announces the World Independent of Factions.

Democracy Discussed.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Mail and Express publishes an interview with ex-Governor Seymour regarding the political situation. He was asked: "As a democrat whom, you know, democrats revere, do you feel Tilden is a man who could effect the unity of the democratic element of New York?"

"Tilden," answered the ex-governor, "is an able man, but one whose habits of business have been such as to render him misunderstood by the democrats in the country, or rather difficult for them to understand, and some characteristic may result in misconception of a man even by those whose business habits have been similar to his own." This difficulty was in the way of unification of republicans as well as democrats that there are now no clearly-marked issues between the parties regarding tariff. He felt this country was surely entering on new relationship with the world. The governor said "we have seen both France and Germany have shown an inclination to shut out the products of our country. If Gladstone's administration should be overthrown and the tory party come in power in England it will probably impose tariffs on our grains and other kinds of food export, for landholders of Britain are severely pressed by our competition. Those who oppose free trade in Britain are aided by the speeches and arguments of ill-directed high tariff men of this country. All classes now study the prospects for the export of our products in making up their opinion as to the business prosperity of our country. If the policy of our government aims at cutting off all imports it will end in the destruction of our trade. I think this will be the principal subject of discussion in the near future, in the presidential campaign next year. I think it will be the subject that will most occupy the public mind without regard to party or platform. I think true policy is in adhering to a revenue tariff. I am friendly to manufacturing interests. I think the great danger to their success grows out of extreme views of men claiming to be their champions. If it is true that sound policy demands a protective tariff here, it is true that it is demanded by the interests of all other countries. I conclude that Beck, of Kentucky, is a gentleman who may not be obscure in the discussion of these questions next year."

The World's Position.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The change in the ownership and management of the World has created considerable interest in the community, especially among the democracy, as Mr. Pulitzer, in his salutatory, announced that the paper would not recognize either the Tilden or Kelly faction, only a united party. Interviews with prominent democrats of all classes show that this is approved. Abram S. Hewitt, the well known congressman, said that Mr. Pulitzer undertakes a praiseworthy but difficult task in insisting on democratic union and ignoring local factions. "I have been trying to stamp out factions in the democratic party in this country and have not succeeded; yet when I started the county democracy movement I thought it would unite all factions into one broad democratic organization, but instead of getting Tammany hall or Irving hall the county democracy has added another faction to those already existing. I know of no man more likely to give us a good democratic paper than Mr. Pulitzer, and based on the doctrine mentioned by him this morning, the World can't fail to be a success.

Denver Races.

DENVER, May 12.—A heavy storm, lasting all the afternoon, with scarcely an interval, prevented the programme for to-day's races from being carried out. But one, the Saloon race, was run with only two entries, Clifton Bell's Lady Trump and LeFevre's Allie. This was a half-mile dash, and notwithstanding the bad condition of the track, was won by Lady Trump by half a dozen lengths in 57. Three days of next week will be occupied in finishing races already arranged.

Hannibal & St. Joe Indebtedness.

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—The opinion of Judge McCrary in the Hannibal & St. Joe railway bond case, was rendered in the U. S. circuit court at Jefferson City. It decides that the railroad company's indebtedness to the state is $476,019, with interest at three per cent. till paid, in addition to the three million dollars paid by the company in June, '81; but from this sum is to be deducted $180,000 interest due on the bonds last January, and $90,000 due thereon on the first of July next, leaving actually due to the state $206,019. Neither party is satisfied with the decision, and the case will be appealed to the U. S. supreme court.

Mining Stock Transactions.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The Post's weekly review of mining transactions says: Fluctuations of the Comstock market during the past week were not so violent as during the week preceding, nor was the volume of business so large. There was a bad break in the price of Challenge, middle stock of Yellow Jacket, of the Gold Hill group and Hot Bear. The movement against the principal north end stock demoralized dealers for a time and caused general break, though not serious lowering of values. Toward the close, however, and especially to-day, the market took the up grade once more, and several stocks are even higher, as we write than they were at a corresponding time last Saturday and the whole market is looking and acting well. It is moving and shifting about on new prospects which have been found in such mines as Sierra Nevada, Union and Hale and Norcross, Challenge and Yellow Jacket, and as these prospects continue bright and are increasing in importance, it is but reasonable to assume that prices will soon be higher.

The Dunn Trial.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The trial of Jere Dunn for the murder of the pugilist Elliott was resumed this morning. Mike C. McDonald was cross examined. He declared that he saw a revolver in Elliott's pocket an hour before the shooting.

F. S. Stowell, saloon keeper at 111 Madison street, testified that the week preceding the tragedy Elliott visited witness' saloon and said he was hunting Dunn.

Jas. Mead saw Elliott in Clayton's place some time before the shooting. He was leaning against the bar, his left hand in his pocket. When a man entered from an outside door he drew a revolver. Witness afterward found Dunn and told him that Elliott was looking for him.—Dunn replied that he knew it. They walked away to avoid him. The same witness also asserted that he had a conversation with "Appetite Bill" Langdon after the shooting. The latter declared that the affair had ruined the business of the Tivoli restaurant and he proposed to down Dunn.

Walter Williams, Thos. Newman and Geo. Hoffman testified to Elliott's having been in Clayton's place looking for Dunn and uttering threats that he would shoot the latter on sight.

Fires.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The trunk manufactory of Black & Co. burned this morning; loss $60,000.

TORONTO, May 12.—The Street Car company stables burned; loss $25,000.

CINCINNATI, May 12.—Fire to-night broke out at 9 o'clock in the engine room of G. S. Crawford's saw mill and destroyed a million and a half feet of lumber, also in Gordon & Rouse's lumber yard one million feet of lumber. Crawford's loss is $150,000; insurance, $55,000. Gordon & Rouse's loss is $77,000; insurance unknown. The fire was in the extreme southwest part of the city and the whole fire department was summoned. The flames were checked from other valuable property in proximity. The fire is still raging but under control.

BOSTON, May 12.—Fire at the Harvard medical school last night caused a loss of $20,000, and will delay opening of the school a month from May 21.

Change in Passenger Rates.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The joint executive committee of trunk lines, passenger departments, finished their session this afternoon, after finally settling on changes to be made in different fares under the recent award of per cents by Commissioner Fink. Rates from Cincinnati to New York, by way of the Marietta & Cincinnati, or as it is now known Cincinnati, Washington & Baltimore, and Baltimore & Ohio has been reduced from $17 to $16 first-class; change of fare for theatrical business from $14 to $13.50.

New York to St. Louis, via O. & M. and B. & O. railways, are scheduled as follows: First-class $21; second-class $18.50, theatrical $18. From St. Louis to New York by the same route: First class $21.75, second class $18.50, theatrical $18. Old rates were the same for both east and west traffic—$22 for first class, $19 for second class, $18.50 for theatrical companies. No other changes were made.

The subject of a western railroad war and cutting of rates in San Francisco, although discussed at considerable length, was not acted on and no arbitration was appointed. The committee adjourned subject to call of commissioners.

GENERAL MATTERS.

Mrs. Fair Divorced from the Nevada Statesman.

Testimony for Defense in the Thompson Trial Closed.

California Remarks on the Eastern Chinese War.

The Fair Divorce Granted.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—A Virginia, Nevada, special says: The divorce suit of Theresa Fair vs. J. G. Fair came up in the district court this morning. R. S. Mesick appeared for the plaintiff, M. N. Stone of this city and Samuel M. Wilson of San Francisco for the defendant. Stone submitted several demurrers to the complaint on the ground that it did not state facts sufficient to constitute cause for action. The demurrer was submitted without argument and was at once overruled by the court. Stone then said the defense would file no answer to the complaint. Mesick asked that the court appoint a time to-day to hear proofs; also that the examination be conducted privately. The court appointed 12 o'clock for the purpose specified. At 12 o'clock the court met but reporters were excluded. In little less than an hour an attorney came out and it was soon known that a decree of divorce had been granted as prayed for, and that plaintiff had been allowed $4,250,000 in money and United States bonds, and the family residence in San Francisco, also the custody of three minor children, Virginia Theresa, Alice and Charles. The custody of the oldest boy, J. G. Fair, jr., was awarded to defendant.

Senator Fair arrived this morning from San Francisco on business connected with the sale of the Brunswick mill, and pending the transfer of the Yellow Jacket mine to the Sharon party. The transfer of the entire business will take place about the end of the present month.

The Chinese Question.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12. The Bulletin says: Our New York contemporaries are seemingly passing through a sort of crisis on the Chinese question, with strong apprehension on the part of some of them. The journals of this city laugh at their extremity. We have no desire to do so, because we recognize that the eastern press are going through phases of the controversy not unknown here. It should be borne in mind in reference to a question like the Chinese that the first light does not come from the supposed upper strata of thought. Parties first brought in direct conflict with Chinese industrially, socially and morally are those in humble walks of life. It was there that the blighting effects of competition with a heathen who sleeps in a bunk, lives on rice and offal was at the beginning experienced in all its horrors. This obscure and inarticulate contest attracted but little attention but, when the latter demonstrated that the Chinese were driving out employers as well as employed; that they were reducing merchants engaged in the China trade to the position of clerks, and drawing out of the country its resources, then the revolutionary sentiment quickly set in.

Phil. Thompson's Trial.

CINCINNATI, May 12. The Times-Star's Harrodsburg, Ky., special says: In the trial of Phil. B. Thompson for the murder of Walter H. Davis, the judge ruled that witness John B. Thompson could not state what he heard from Mrs. Thompson, but could tell what information he gave to defendant. Witness said Mrs. Thompson, wife of defendant, was 35 years old; Davis was only 28. During the past two years Mrs. Thompson was often besotted, and in this condition drove through the streets of Harrodsburg. The cross-examination was much protracted. An effort was made to break down the defense, suggested by D. W. Voorhees of the terrible agitation of Phil. Thompson just before killing Davis. The fact was elicited that after Thompson gave himself up he wrote out his own speech for the reporters, who telegraphed it. Voorhees and Blackburn are anxious to finish the testimony to-day.

Train Dispatcher E. Wells testified that there was no wreck on the Southern road on the day Davis persuaded Mrs. Thompson to remain over in Cincinnati by telling her there was a wreck on the road.

The appearance of Miss Jessie Buckner on the stand was the sensational event of the trial. She testified that she was the niece of Mrs. Phil Thompson, had been raised as a member of the family and stood in the relation of a sister to the accused. She repeated the story of the events at the St. Clair hotel, saying she wanted Davis not to go out with Mrs. Thompson or get her drunk; that to do so would be to take his life in his own hands, as she would tell Mrs. Thompson's husband. She said she wrote Davis saying she had told her cousin Phil all about it at the St. Clair, but in fact only told him of his wife's drunkenness. John Thompson, when he investigated the matter at Phil's request, learned from her of Mrs. Thompson being in Davis' room, and told her she ought to tell defendant. She did so when he came to Cincinnati, a day or two before the killing.

During the testimony the widow of Walter Davis, supported by her mother and sister, appeared and were given seats near the counsel. Mrs. Davis was deeply affected and sat with her handkerchief to her eyes. Miss Buckner's testimony was given with ease and candor.

After unimportant cross-examination of Miss Buckner, Mr. Roth, of the St. Clair hotel, Cincinnati, corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Roth and Miss Buckner as to what occurred between the parties there.

After unimportant testimony of two witnesses the testimony for the defense closed and rebutting testimony began. In rebuttal several witnesses testified that Miss Buckner last fall on her return from Louisville said she had just met Walter Davis and wife at the depot in Harrodsburg and that they refused to recognize her; that she was very angry and declared she would have revenge.

Mrs. Turner Fisher testified that she was in Cincinnati November 28th; saw Mrs. Thompson with Davis about 5 o'clock p. m.; that Mr. Davis called on her and Mrs. Cat. Davis that evening. Then the court adjourned.

Snowden, superintendent of the Philadelphia mint, was detailed to go to New Orleans to investigate. His report has just been submitted to the secretary of the treasury.

J. Dolan, 510; J. Smith, 507; G. J. Joiner, 496; J. H. Brown, 493; W. Farrow, 469. The coming-week competitors for place in the team takes place, and Friday evening next the team will be selected at the meeting of the board of directors of the National Rifle association.

English Politics.

LONDON, May 12.—The Times summing up matters to the present of this session of parliament says: It cannot be denied that during the last three months the situation has become distinctly worse. The triumphs of the ministry have been eclipsed by the confused details of its later policy and its followers have lost their habits of discipline. Action of the cabinet itself somehow fails to convey the impression of unity and directness of purpose which can alone insure victory.

THE "TWO DROMIOS."

Robson and Crane at the Opera House Last Night.

Much has been expected from Robson and Crane, and so to speak much has been realized. They have come and gone, and to express the sentiments of those who purchased tickets for last night's performance, we can say for the majority of them that they were fully satisfied. As compared with the specialty performances that we have had of late the comedietta of "Two Can Play at that Game" and the "Comedy of Errors" was really a luxury. Although a double bill was advertised, both plays were cut more or less, out of the anxiety of some of the members of the company to take the 11:10 train for Manitou.

In the comedietta neither Robson or Crane appeared, but it, although a short one act comedy, was put on in a very satisfactory manner. Mr. A. S. Lipman, Charles I. Dickson and Leonora Bradley performed the parts assigned them very acceptably.

In the "Comedy of Errors" Robson and Crane appeared for the first time before a Colorado Springs audience. This farcical play, of Shakespere's adapted from the Italian of Plautus, is really the best one in Robson and Crane's repertoire. In the characterization of the two Dromios these wonderful comedians have no equals. The resemblance in face, voice and manner is excellent. The support is strong and as a whole the company is well balanced.

Robson and Crane have not a very gentlemanly manager in the person of Mr. Cotter. Complaints came from several of the regular patrons of the house that he had insulted them at the door. These complaints became so numerous that Manager Nye, of the opera house, insisted upon another man taking his place. Mr. Cotter conceded to the change, left the house and did not appear again during the evening.

MINING MATTERS.

Notes Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

CRYSTAL CAMP.

Crystal camp in Saguache county is about twenty-four miles northwest of Del Norte on what is called Crystal mountain. The first discovery of carbonates was made about six weeks ago in the Buckhorn by Sargent and Burroughs. They were running a cross-cut on the side of the mountain to catch a ledge of porphyry in which the black manganese carried quantities of gold. Running the cross-cut about fifty feet a lime formation was encountered. Having had some experience in Leadville they went further up the hill and began another cross-cut. Running through about five feet of porphyry they struck a bed of carbonates lying in a horizontal position ranging in thickness from one to five feet. This is the only place where carbonates have been struck, and at this point it seems to be a blowout or caused by volcanic action. Mr. Sanderson brought several pounds of the ore to Denver, and a specimen was taken to Mr. Burlingame for assay. The returns were 706 ounces in silver per ton and about 40 per cent lead. A company was speedily organized called the Denver Prospecting company, composed of the following gentlemen: James Duff, Dennis Sullivan, J. A. Thatcher, Charles Hall, H. Holly, J. S. Sanderson, M. C. Dailey, John Pendleton, Mr. Begor and V. Nichols. J. S. Saunders was elected superintendent and immediately started for the grounds. Five claims were located for this company and men set to work developing them. At the time there were about ten men in the district. Since then Del Norte has become visibly agitated over the matter, as has also Saguache, and the rush from those two towns has nearly depopulated them. The country about Crystal camp is not as rough as mountains usually are about mining camps. The hills are low and deeply covered with wash and the gulches are shallow. Wherever rock in place appears, it is of a volcanic nature, or an upheaval showing porphyry in lime. There is little question that this camp is ere long destined to prove a formidable rival to Leadville.

CRESTED BUTTE.

Crested Butte Republican.

Among the companies which will do a large amount of development work in Poverty gulch and vicinity the coming season, is the Pittsburg Gold and Silver Mining company, who have their headquarters at Danville, Ill. Mr. Seymour Shoultes, the superintendent of the company, has arrived, and will at once proceed to lay out his plan of operations for the summer. This company has some excellent property in Poverty gulch, among which may be mentioned the "Vermillion," a large vein carrying galena and copper, upon which a shaft 3½x6 feet has been sunk to a depth of 44 feet. The Della May and Verona are leads of from 3½ to 7 feet, and carry the same quality of ore. These three leads will be quite extensively worked this year. The company is one of a strong financial footing, and is prepared for a good season's work.

E. E. Winslow and E. R. Alter have just completed a contract of 300 feet on the Hawkeye, up Snake river. The work has been divided between two tunnels, on one 70 feet of work being done, and 230 feet on the other, making the entire length of one 100 feet, and the other 270 feet. The 100 tunnel is driven on the vein, while the 270 foot tunnel is some 120 feet lower down the mountain, and run in as a cross-cut, striking the vein at about 120 feet from the start, and then drifting along on the wall for 150 feet, leaving the mineral, which is zinc blende and brittle silver, standing on the hanging wall. The upper tunnel has a large body of mineral exposed, which will be shipped as soon as teams can be gotten to the mine. Some three or four car loads were shipped last fall, which returned 116 ounces silver per ton, and there are some six or eight car loads awaiting shipment now. Although the contract was finished, work has not ceased, and the men are at work now, and will shortly commence stoping from the lower tunnel to the upper one, in order to get better ventilation, but the work will all be in mineral. The property belongs to the Hawkeye Mining Co., and it is the intention of the company to put up concentrating works on the property this season.

JIMTOWN TO BOOM AGAIN.

Denver Republican.

"Jimtown will come to the front yet," said a well known Boulder county mining man to a Republican scribe at the Windsor yesterday. "Our camp may not now be what it was a few weeks ago, but I give it as a cold prediction now that before the middle of July the town will have more of a boom than it did this spring. Why? Because about that time several mines now being worked will strike into paying mineral, and all that was at first promised for the camp will be realized. It has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that from 85 to 125 feet below the surface there exists a large bed of mineral that will assay way up in silver and lead. The discovery was made by boring, and at the present time the owners of several mines are pushing the work of development with all possible rapidity. They know they are digging after a surety, and the sooner they get into the pay streak the better it will be for the camp, as well as their own pockets. This bed of mineral will run about 50 ounces silver and 40 to 60 per cent. lead. At least half a dozen mines will reach the required depth about the middle of July, or possibly sooner, and Jimtown will once more come into prominence. It will not be an ephemeral boom either, but one that will be lasting. The camp will get down to a bed rock basis; nothing wildcat about it."

"How does Jimtown compare now with what it was a few weeks ago?" was asked.

"During the height of the boom we probably had 3,000 people; now I don't suppose we have over 1,200 at a high estimate."

"What caused the stampede?"

"You know how it is with mining camps. A large floating population always comes with a boom, which leaves as soon as the boom begins to wane. Jimtown does not miss this part of her population, and it must be set down that this is the class of people that has left the camp. Our miners and business men are there yet, and are preparing to stay. Gamblers, saloon men, loafers and adventurers have left. A big loss to our population was caused on the first of the month. This was the date on which the saloons and bawdy houses were required to renew their yearly licences, but this nearly all refused to do, and the consequence was that the shutters were run up on a score of saloons in a single day. Of course, as I said before, the loss is not considerable, but it detracts from the general population. Yes, sir; you would be surprised to know the amount of legitimate mining that is going on in and around Jimtown. The din and noise of blasting is heard at all times."

Mr. A. F. Gewitton, now in business at Salida, Colo., was in the city yesterday.

Mr. F. H. Boardman, an extensive stockman of Elbert county, was in the city yesterday.

Yesterday noon's Denver & New Orleans train was one hour late and the Denver & Rio Grande 40 minutes.

Invitations are out for the second annual hop of the Colorado Springs Hook and Ladder Co. to be held next Wednesday night, May 16th.

Mr. Charles Howbert, who has been acting as treasurer at the opera house since the departure of Joe Wells, will fill the place permanently.

Mr. I. T. Jones, of the firm of Ferris & Jones, has returned after an absence of two months at the east, where he has been purchasing goods for the firm.

Mr. J. J. Hooker will the early part of next week move from his present location to the store room in the Arnold block, formerly occupied by D. W. Robbins.

To-morrow is the festival of Whitsunday at Grace church. Services at 11 a. m. Whitsunday sermon and celebration of the holy communion. Evening service at 4.50 p. m.

Justice Pixley yesterday afternoon fined three men named Mexican George, Pete Magentis and Benjamin Franklin Mustan five dollars and costs each for fast riding on the streets.

Geo. N. Dorsey, a representative of the Denver Journal of Commerce, is in the city for the purpose of writing up Colorado Springs for that paper and is domiciled at the Spaulding house.

See the celebrated comedians, Robson and Crane, at the opera house to-night in their double bill beginning with a comedietta entitled "Two Can Play at One Game," and concluding with the "Comedy of Errors."

During the dullest season of the year, from October 17 to date, there have been 4,013 guests registered at the Spaulding house, exclusive of regular boarders, making an average of 18 arrivals per day for 223 days.

The vacant store-room in the Opera House block is being cleaned up and partitioned off and next week will be occupied by the Adams Express company and the Colorado Springs Gas & Coke company. The office of Mayor Humphrey will also be found there.

The lawn at the east front of the Antlers is being graded up and covered with loam preparatory to being platted out, sodded and planted with trees and shrubbery. Plans have also been drawn up for the improvement of the ground at the west front. Mr William Clark, the landscape gardener, is superintending the work.

The ladies auxiliary to Post No. 22, G. A. R., will meet at the residence of Mrs. L. E. Sherman, 113 South Weber street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock in order to perfect their organization and adopt a constitution. All loyal ladies and friends of soldiers are cordially and urgently requested to be present. Plans will be adopted to assist in the observance of Memorial day.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held to-morrow night in the African M. E. church. The choir of the church is preparing music for the occasion. A number of recitations will be rendered by Eliza Rollins, Miss Read and others. Addresses will be delivered by the pastor of the church, and also by the ladies of the union. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

Mr. Thomas Bradley met with quite a serious accident while coming through Ute pass yesterday morning with a load of lumber. In one of the steep places on the pass the brake gave way and the heavy load crowded on the horses. In trying to obtain control of the team Mr. Bradley fell from the load to the ground, the wheels passing over his legs, breaking them both. The man was removed to Manitou and is under the treatment of Dr. McMillan.

Dr. S. Davis writes us that after travelling through the southern states and a large portion of Texas, he has settled down at Colorado, Texas, in the practice of his profession. The town is located on the Colorado river, in the center of the great grazing region of west Texas, and has a population of about three thousand five hundred people. The doctor says that in all his travels he has seen but one city that will in any way compare with Colorado Springs, and that is Huntsville, Alabama. He says that he will always regret leaving Colorado Springs. Mr. J. H. Drinkwater, formerly a resident of Colorado Springs is also located in business at Colorado.

Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET:
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for RHEUMATISM, GOUT and NEURALGIA. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.

Senator and Mrs Tabor No 2, and Mr Peter McCourt have gone to Oshkosh

The new bonanza idea—divorce and going to the U. S senate The west has just furnished two examples of this in Senators Tabor and Fair

Nature kindly sprinkled our streets yesterday We hope that the council will see the benefit of this and make some arrangement for watering at least a part of the city this summer

The News continues to ask Senator Hill to deny Mr. Chaffee's charge. He has done so over his own signature It now remains for Mr. Chaffee to give proof that Senator Hill paid $28,000 for his seat in the senate.

The Deaf Mute Index thanks thus. Two "thousand extra copies of the GAZETTE of the "10th inst, containing an illustrated article "on the new hotel, were printed and sold. "Most of them were sent east This is the 'correct way to advertise the town "

Late reports go to show that Governor Evans is in a fair way of disposing of a large block of D. & N. O. bonds in New York — [Republic, May 12

This is old news. The Republic published this last September and sundry times before and also called the Denver Times or some other wicked paper a liar for not believing it. It saves composition however to keep such items standing and insert them periodically.

Ex-Governor Horatio Seymour contributes a little to the tariff discussion, but does not take sides It is evident the democratic party will not dare to be very strongly committed to any policy in its platform judging by the utterances of its leading men. One expression of his on another subject is very good He says Mr. Tilden's habits of business render him misunderstood. This is a very true remark we hope

A clergyman has just published a book of selections from Ouida to show her wit, humor and pathos This is a remarkable business for a religious teacher to be engaged in In the first place it is a question whether a book of clean thoughts can be formed in Ouida If they can be found and prove attractive they are likely to lead to a further reading of Ouida We cannot understand how a moral teacher could recommend in any way the only prominent writer in English fiction whose works are immoral in tone and pernicious in influence Her books are bad not to help the plot, but simply for the love of the bad

Mr Talmage said in his sermon last Sunday that the great want of the day "is practical "religion—a religion that will correctly label "goods, that will prevent a man telling you a "watch was made in Geneva when it was "made in Massachusetts, that will keep the "ground glass and the sand out of the sugar, "that will sift out the Prussian blue from the "tea leaves that will separate the one quart "of Ridgewood water from the one honest 'drop of cow's milk This will be endorsed by all good people But it ought to occur to Mr Talmage that it includes telling the truth Mr Talmage finds it so remunerative that he tells a story not so much to tell the truth as to create a sensation His pictures of society are frightful distortions He is all the while putting Prussian blue into his tea leaves In the same sermon he charges that in fashionable society it is a common thing for ladies to become drunk. Few who heard this will not believe it was an exaggeration This is as wicked as to cheat with the yard stick. Mr Talmage cheats for purposes of trade, as well as the dry goods merchants

The board of trustees of the institution for mute and blind have issued the following circular

The trustees of the institution for the education of the mute and blind of Colorado take pleasure in announcing that at the commencement of the next term of school, Sept. 12th, 1883, they will be prepared with proper teachers and appliances for the education of the blind

The trustees would be pleased to be put in correspondence with the parents or guardians of all proper applicants, mute or blind, to enable them to make suitable preparations for the reception of all who may choose to avail themselves of the institution The statutes of Colorado provide that all persons between the ages of five and thirty two years either mute or blind, eligible They desire to impress upon the minds of parents and guardians of the mute and blind that this institution is intended solely for their education, and maintenance to fit them for self-support, and not designed as an asylum for the imbecile.

This will mark a new departure in this institution Though nominally for the blind as well as the mute, the institution has been unable to do anything for the education of the blind The board of trustees now feel that it can provide for this unfortunate class and announce it will do so this fall This action will give general satisfaction It is undertaking a good deal with small means, but the board is conservative in expenditures and will undoubtedly do all it proposes without exceeding its income

LITERARY

A store of good things are contained in the June number of the Atlantic Monthly, and it does credit, as usual, to Mr. Aldrich's taste in selection The third and last part of Henry James's clever dramatization of "Daisy Miller" is contained in it, and also the conclusion of Miss Sarah Orne Jewett's story, "A Country Farmer," a contribution in her pleasantest vein. Perhaps the most noticeable things in the number are a poem by Whittier, "How the Women went from Dover," a stirring ballad of the old days of Quaker persecution in New England and a paper entitled "Mr Emerson in the Lecture Room," reminiscences of the great thinker's lectures delivered at Harvard college in 1870 Charles Dudley Warner has a travel sketch on Montserrat, written in his usual happy manner Mr Richard Grant White contributes the first part of an international paper, "Mr. Washington Adams in England" in which he will succeed in setting off the peculiarities of our compatriots as they appear abroad as well as making some clever hits at our British cousins "Bridget's Story," by I C Wyman "The Biography of Two Famous Songs" by Amelia Barr, a gossiping and attractive article on "Table Talk," by F C Taylor and "Life in Old Spain" by E D L Blanchard add to the variety and general brightness of the contents, while timely and thoughtful essays on "Morality in the Public Schools," and "Authorship in America" form the pieces de resistance of the number. A poem or two, together with the usual excellent critiques on recent books, and the well known Contributors' Club, a feature of steadily increasing popularity complete a very noticeable number.

In addition to the forthcoming biography of George Eliot, by her husband, Mr Cross, J R Osgood & Co have in press a work upon her by Rev George W Cooke whose study of Emerson proves his skill as an analytic critic The same house has printed a first edition of 50,000 copies of Mark Twain's new book, Life on the Mississippi, which will be sold by subscription only.

G. P Putnam's Sons have nearly ready the Recollections of My Youth, by M Ernest Renan The volume is one simply of recollections, but the author writes with all his accustomed charm and grace of manner A large part of the material appeared in the Revue des Deux Mondes, though the papers have been thoroughly rewritten, and the English translation has been read and approved by M Renan.

Routledge & Co have published through their New York branch Mr Randolph Caldecott's new Sketch Book, "dedicated to every body, but copy right reserved" The pictures are many of them clever, but they do not compare with Mr. Caldecott's best work The same artist's Æsop's Fables Done into Pictures is nearly ready for publication, it will be brought out by the Macmillans simultaneously in London and New York.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co have in press a volume of poetry by the late Jones Very of Salem a new volume in the "American Men of Letters series, on Benjamin Franklin, by John Bach McMaster the Life of Margaret Fuller, by Thomas Wentworth Higginson a book on Poe, by George E Woodberry Mr Browning's new volume and in the "American Statesmen series, a Life of Daniel Webster, by Henry Cabot Lodge.

The Manhattan Magazine, published in New York, one of the newest candidates for public favor, it would seem has come to stay, though nothing very remarkable either in a literary or an artistic line has yet been noticed in the magazine Mr Julian Hawthorne contributes a short story to the first number entitled, "Set not Thy Foot on Graves," and it is understood he is preparing a long novel which will run as a serial in the periodical

Scribner & Welford will issue in connection with a London house a new work on The Ornamental Arts of Japan The book is compiled for the purpose of illustrating the most important branches of art industry in Japan, and to make a permanent and adequate record of the best Japanese art work preserved in English, French and American collections, by means of a series of one hundred colored plates The edition is limited to twelve hundred and fifty copies, of which nearly half come to this country

Mr E W Gosse has written an article on "Living English Sculptors" which will be printed in the next number of the Century; the frontispiece of the number is to be an engraving of Woolner's bust of Tennyson Among the other important papers to be given in the same issue are a review of the Carlyle and Emerson correspondence by Henry James Jr, and an article on Carlyle by John Burroughs, an article on the Irish Question by James Bryce M P, and a discussion of "The Native Element in American Fiction," by Mr James Herbert Morse

Ear-Wagging

Longman's Magazine

That humanity possesses within the compass of its frame a considerable number of examples of useless parts which, as G H Lewes remarked, have a reference "to a former state of things," is readily proved If, for instance, we make a superficial examination of the muscular surroundings of the human ear, we may discover certain plain examples of the rudimentary organs, to which the modern anatomist attaches a high importance as clues and guides to the past history of the race that exhibits them The power to move our ears is, of course, non existent in the vast majority of mankind Now and then we meet with an individual who can fulfil one of Lord Dundreary's tests of superiority in that he "can wag his left ear," and can move his right ear also At will, such individuals can produce feeble though distinct movements of the ear. This power depends upon an unusual development of muscles which, in ordinary individuals, exist in a rudimentary state The ability to move the ear is held to be a relic of a power once well developed in the ancestry from which the human race has sprung. Darwin tells us that he saw one man who could draw the whole ear forward other men,' he continues, "can draw it upward," another "could draw it backward" and," adds Mr Darwin, "from what one of these persons told me, it is probable that most of us, by often touching our ears, and thus directing our attention toward them, could recover some power of movement by repeated trials" Three little muscles, named in anatomy the attollens, attrahens, and retrahens aurem, respectively, for the "raiser," "forward-drawer," and "back-drawer" of the ear are found associated with the outer ear in man They are so small as to be useless for any purpose of ear-movement, as we have seen, but that their former and ancestral function was that of moving the ears admits of no question. In lower animals we find corresponding muscles well developed while we may also discover additional muscles to be represented in the belongings of the ears of many quadrupeds In the ear of the horse there are such additional muscles, and we can readily conceive that the wonderful pliability and range of movement in the outer ear in this and other animals would demand an increased muscular supply found over that in higher quadruped life, where ear movement becomes of less importance than in lower existence. Thus we discover that in such apes as the chimpanzee and orang, whose ears closely resemble those of man form, the ear-muscles are well-nigh as feebly developed as in the human subject, and the ears of these animals do not appear to be capable of any greater range of movement than is exhibited by man.

Mexico and the Church

North American Review.

In the first Mexican constitution of 1824 it was ordained that "the religion of the Mexican nation is, and will be perpetually, the Roman Catholic Apostolic. The nation will protect it by wise and just laws, and prohibit the exercise of any other whatever." This evidence of the demand of the church for supremacy over the civil power of the republic is enough to account for the greater part of the troubles experienced by Mexico in gaining her independence, and in establishing afterward a free democratic government It is painful to recall the events which have marked the efforts of Mexico to eliminate from her constitution this fatal root of evil An account of them would include the history of far the greater number of the revolutions that have so disturbed the peace of that country, and have so nearly resulted in convincing the world that Mexicans are incapable of self government. We can understand something of the difficulty of Mexico's great task, now completed, of reforming the constitution by dropping from its text the article above quoted, when we reflect it has cost the United States enormously in life, treasure and property, and still costs us near $100,000,000 a year in pensions, to strike from our constitution a similar guarantee of slavery To gain its independence of Spain, Mexico had to fight through fourteen years of bloody and inhuman warfare, and during nearly all that time and for 33 years since it had to battle with the church party in congress, in the council chamber, in foreign courts, and in domestic and foreign wars, before it could finally establish the republic on safe and enduring foundations The state party, intrenched in the constitution, and invested with civil power which added to its ecclesiastical influence, made it paramount over the government, has always preferred monarchy, either under a foreign or native ruler, to the republic, because royalty is its strongest ally the world over Mexico has, therefore, been confronted since 1824, and until 1866, with a question planted incautiously in her own constitution, which has all the time threatened the overthrow of the republic No people have ever been more constant to their principles, nor has there ever been an exhibition of more heroic sacrifice than they have made to secure self government under a democratic republic based on a written constitution.

By Universal Accord, AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS are the best of all purgatives for family use. They are the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, and their extensive use, by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, proves them the best and most effectual purgative Pill that medical science can devise. Being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use, and being sugar coated, they are pleasant to take. In intrinsic value and curative powers no other Pills can be compared with them, and every person, knowing their virtues, will employ them, when needed. They keep the system in perfect order, and maintain in healthy action the whole machinery of life. Mild, searching and effectual, they are especially adapted to the needs of the digestive apparatus, derangements of which they prevent and cure, if timely taken. They are the best and safest physic to employ for children and weakened constitutions, where a mild but effectual cathartic is required

Modern church goers could learn a lesson that would be of much benefit to them, and gratifying to their pastor from the Latter Day Saints. There are no late comers. Neither is there a bell. When the hour arrives for service the congregation are found in their pews. The latter are not of that [illegible]. [illegible] straight, with very low uncomfortable benches that answer [illegible] of anything but comfort. Not [illegible]—when you try about the [illegible] you will find every [illegible] turned toward the pulpit and every one intent upon drinking every word.

Watch of the Two ?

Nature

If experiments on [illegible] the [illegible] experiments [illegible] on animals [illegible] and to their [illegible]. The contrast between such highly popular experiments on man and [illegible] experiments on animals was illustrated in [illegible] [illegible] two [illegible] of experiments [illegible] cholera. The first experiment was tried on 400,000 men [illegible], who were supplied with water contaminated by [illegible] discharges, with the result that 72 out of every 10,000 consumers died from the effects of the experiment. In two other experiments made by another water company [illegible] and eighty died in the first experiment, and 130 in the second out of every 10,000. The popular experiment on a large scale involved the sacrifice of half a million human beings. In contrast with this may be set the scientific experiments made upon animals by Thiersch and others. These experiments were made on fifty six mice, fourteen of which died from the cholera [illegible]. [illegible] were not mixed with water accidentally or carelessly as in the popular experiment but were administered under definite conditions, and the effect watched. The results of these experiments [illegible] [illegible] water contaminated with cholera discharges is deadly, the water so contaminated was avoided, and [illegible] was escaped.

Robert Macaire and Frederick Lemaitre

Saturday Review

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] described as one of the worst pieces ever played. It is poorly imagined and so badly constructed that, [illegible] it was found to go better in two acts than in three, its personages are the paltriest dummies, the shabbiest and limpest of the lay figures of melodrama. Its style, at once bombastic and inept, is a libel upon the French tongue. It was too feeble and too shapeless even for a transpontine audience, and it was very heartily damned. But the public had reckoned without its Frederick. Young, daring, beautiful as Apollo, devoured with ambition and the consciousness of genius, the actor had taken his measures to succeed. In studying his part one night he had amused himself by playing it as the broadest farce. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] seemed to him to [illegible]. He had communicated [illegible] to Firmin, his second in the play, and Firmin [illegible] sublime. Together they worked out the plan, created the personage, invented the costumes, and arranged the effects and [illegible] after the fall of the piece, they proposed their work to the authors. [illegible] were allowed to do as they pleased. The rest is historical. For the parts thus [illegible] the personages thus endued with life and vigor, were no other than Bertrand and Robert Macaire. It was an idea of genius, and its success was instant and complete. Frederick, in his "Memoires," which have been described as his worst impersonation, would have us believe that it was carried out on the first night [illegible] without the authors' knowledge. But the facts appear to be as we have said. As produced by MM Antier, Saint Amand and Polyanthe, the 'Auberge des Adrets' began by being thoroughly damned. As reanimated by Frederick and his accomplice, it went on to be one of the great and enduring successes of the romantic epoch. It was the birth of a new type. For the first time in art the genius blackguard became incarnate in the person of an artist of genius. The vulgar ruffian [illegible] by [illegible] [illegible] and the [illegible] Polyanthe had given place to a personification of all the vices of civilization. In Frederick's hands Macaire was at once elegant and vile, sinister and superb, atrocious and admirable, utterly depraved and scandalously attractive, a mixture of Lacenaire and Scapin, and of Don Juan and Cartouche, believing nothing, respecting nothing, and fearing nothing, a bestial cynic, a heartless profligate, a villainous exquisite, a creature remote from morality, absolutely irreverent, innately and perfectly corrupt, and altogether incapable of cowardice or ungracefulness or remorse. "You laughed at him," says Mr G H Lewes, "and you would have killed him like a rat."

Unseasonable Levity of a Parrot

Glasgow Herald.

The English sailors went ashore with their parrot in a Japanese port to see one of the famous jugglers. At every trick one of the sailors would say "Now, wasn't that clever? Wonder what he'll do next?" After a large number of tricks, followed each time by the same remark the juggler made a mistake and dropped a burning stick on a pile of fireworks. The bombs and crackers exploded, tore off a part of the thatched roof, dispersed the audience and scorched the parrot's tail feathers. The explosion was hardly over when the parrot called out "Now, wasn't that clever? Wonder what he'll do next?"

Slips of the Pen

In Mrs Alexander's excellent novel, 'The Wooing O't,' occurs a "slip of the pen," calculated to astound any one even moderately versed in French dramatic lore, which, by some inexplicable carelessness, has been reproduced without alteration in the popular edition of that favorite work. During her stay in Paris the heroine is represented as having been taken by her friends one evening to the Opera Comique for the purpose of hearing—"je vous le donne en mille," as Mme de Sevigne would say—[illegible] in 'Le Domino Noir.' How the singular idea of endowing the charming actress of the Gymnase, of all people in the world, with a voice capable of doing justice to Auber's delightful masterpiece could have entered the authoress's head, I am at a loss to imagine, the artist in question possessing just enough musical ability to enable her to get creditably through a vaudeville couplet, and not an iota more. I [illegible] hope that this error may be [illegible] corrected, and some other name, that of Mlle [illegible] for example, who did [illegible], [illegible] at the Opera Comique [illegible] substituted the [illegible] [illegible] being to any [illegible] conversant with the lyric drama of our neighbors a positive eyesore.

The Carmelites

The [illegible] [illegible] Carmelites [illegible] in France in [illegible]. They [illegible] in their [illegible] and followed Saint Louis to Paris, where they found an abode in a [illegible]. In [illegible] Philip the Fair gave them a large house situated near the Place Maubert. Later on, in the reign of Philip the Tall, they purchased the buildings of Dace college, contiguous to their own. They reconstructed the monastery and added a church on the lines of [illegible] Things went on unchanged until the end of the sixteenth century, [illegible] found [illegible] [illegible] that had crept into it. They changed the dress to white and brown [illegible] gave them the name of Discalced Carmelites. Two of the reformers were sent by [illegible] with special recommendations to the Court of France. Marie de Medicis was queen regent and on the 3d September, 1610, a [illegible] was issued authorizing the Carmelites to establish themselves in Paris and Lyon. After some hesitation this decree was ratified by the parliament. A gentleman of great wealth, named Vivyan, bought a large house and garden for them, and the foundation of their church was laid by the queen regent on the 20th July, 1613, with great pomp and ceremony. The edifice was consecrated seven years later. The Carmelites rapidly increased in numbers and continued to build and acquire property, so that a few years after their installation we find their building covering a very large area. It was bounded on the east side by the Rue Cassette, on the west by the Rue du Regard, on the north by the Rue Cherche Midi, and on the south by the Rue de Vaugirard. The rents accruing from their [illegible] property [illegible] [illegible] in 1700 [illegible] 176 [illegible]. This large area included spacious gardens, which were useful as well as ornamental. The monks, in imitation of those of Chartreuse, employed their chemical skill in extracting from herbs and flowers a cunningly concocted liquor, known as Eau des Carmes or Eau de Melisse. It is still to be had, though some people say it is but a ghost of its former self. The sale of this beverage was highly remunerative. One account in the archives of the Paris Hotel de Ville sets the sum down at 3,000 livres a month. They got a patent from the king to protect it. The monks bore an excellent reputation for charity and piety. They were renowned preachers and had published many useful works.

Various Causes

Advancing years, care, sickness, disappointment and hereditary predisposition all operate to turn the hair gray, and either of them inclines it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR will restore faded or gray, light or red hair to a rich brown or deep black, as may be desired. It softens and cleanses the scalp, giving it a healthy action. It removes and cures dandruff and humors. By its use falling hair is checked, and a new growth will be produced in all cases where the follicles are not destroyed or the glands decayed. Its effects are beautifully shown on brashy, weak, or sickly hair, on which a few applications will produce the gloss and freshness of youth. Harmless and sure in its results, it is incomparable as a dressing, and is especially valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil or color white cambric, yet it lasts long on the hair, and keeps it fresh and vigorous, imparting an agreeable perfume.

Its long continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its healing effects, and will always cure where cures are possible.

SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for RHEUMATISM, GOUT and NEURALGIA. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.
